

Risk Disclosure Notice For Trading With Icon FX, registered name Icon Tech LLC

Risk Disclosure Notice

Before applying to create a trading account with our company, you should thoroughly examine if trading CFDs is suitable for your business or yourself.

CFD trading has significant risks and is not suited for all people. You should think about your own goals, economic standing, and requirements, and seek impartial guidance if possible.

You must not trade CFDs until you comprehend the terms of the transaction and the amount of your risk exposure as a result of that agreement.

Trading CFDs is a risky action.

Because CFD trading involves leveraging, both profits and losses are amplified. In other terms, a very minor market action might result in a proportionally bigger change in the value of your asset, which can work both for and against you. Because of the 'leverage' inherent with CFD trading, a relatively small margin deposit might result in large losses.

Derivative marketplaces are unpredictable.

The fundamental stocks, currencies, commodities, investment vehicles, or indexes' values may vary fast, across the various spectrum, and in response to unanticipated occurrences or variations in situations, neither of which are at your disposal.

Unexpected things, such as modifying supply and demand associations, regulatory, agronomic, commercial, and commerce plans and initiatives, domestic and international and financial events, and the prevalent psychosocial factors of the pertinent consumer market, will also have an impact.

Foreign markets interfere with risks for Australian markets.

Foreign currency depreciation will influence the possible capital gain from CFDs linked to an international market or pegged in a different currency. Even if the price of the asset to which the CFD corresponds stays unchanged, you may lose money if currency values move to your disadvantage.

You may sustain a total loss of the margin that you deposit with us to establish or maintain a position.

If the market turns on you, you might well be forced to pay significant extra margins on a tight deadline.

If you do not comply within the specified time frame, your stake may be dissolved at a loss. Even if you do not visit the site and do not get the notice, you will be considered to have received platform alerts encouraging you to deposit extra cash. You entirely must ensure that you are informed of, and fulfil, any margin calls by regularly checking your account.

No personal financial product advice/recommendation relating to CFDs will be provided.

We are not authorized to give you specific advice, and we will simply give you generic help and guidance regarding margin trading.

As a result, before opening an account and trading with us, you must thoroughly examine the suitability of any basic guidance in light of your specific objectives, financial position, and requirements, and seek financial and/or legal counsel.

ICON TECH LLC

1

www.iconfx.com

